Data Usage Policy

This document outlines how Coke&Code collects, stores, and uses your data. Please read this document carefully before proceeding with using the Coke&Code website. By reading this page, you agree to abide by the terms of this policy. We reserve the right to update this policy as and when needed and will update you about the same on the email ID associated with your Coke&Code account. Additionally, please also read our Terms of Use, Privacy Policy, and Community Guidelines before using the Coke&Code website.

How does Coke&Code collect my data and why?

When you browse our website, we also automatically receive your computer's internet protocol (IP) address in order to provide us with information that helps us learn about your browser and operating system.

Coke&Code collects data from you to identify you as a user, to be able to communicate with you, and to help ensure that all our users get the best experience while using our services. With your permission, we may use your registered email address to send you communication about our newsletters, your submission results and other updates. Coke&Code does not share your data with any third parties without your explicit consent. We also store your data with adequate security features and remove personally identifiable information for analytics purposes.

Do I have ownership over all my data?

Coke&Code retains ownership over some of your data which includes the username which you reserved while registering, the analytical data collected from you such as your preferred language, your institution, your degree, your graduation year, the type of user you are, and how long you have been programming for. However, personally identifiable data associated with these, such as your real name, email ID, age, gender, and others will be removed on request. Note however that we retain the rights to publicly display the submissions that you had made, as detailed here.

What about third parties that collect my data?

In general, the third-party providers used by us will only collect, use and disclose your information to the extent necessary to allow them to perform the services they provide to us. However, certain third-party service providers, such as payment gateways and other payment transaction processors, have their own privacy policies in respect to the information we are required to provide to them for your purchase-related transactions.

For these providers, we recommend that you read their privacy policies so you can understand the manner in which your personal information will be handled by these providers. In particular, remember that certain providers may be located in or have facilities that are located a different jurisdiction than either you or us. So if you elect to proceed with a transaction that involves the services of a third-party service provider, then your information may become subject to the laws of the jurisdiction(s) in which that service provider or its facilities are located.

Once you leave our website or are redirected to a third-party website or application, you are no longer governed by this Privacy Policy or our website's Terms of Service.

When you click on links on our store, they may direct you away from our site. We are not responsible for the privacy practices of other sites and encourage you to read their privacy statements.
